

Whirlwind Project

Poetry Reading and Call for Entries

Saturday, August 18, 2007
3:00 PM–5:00 PM
Pages for All Ages Bookstore
1201 Savoy Plaza
Savoy, Illinois

“Listen and attend with the ear of your heart.”

—SAINT BENEDICT

Need a break from the whirlwind of school registration, buying school supplies, and whizzing through the zoo of end-of-summer traffic? Come rest and listen to the works of local poets and writers.

The Whirlwind Project invites poets and other creative writers, emerging or experienced, to share their writings that reflect the theme of Compassionate Listening. Poets, fiction, and non-creative fiction writers are encouraged to participate. Individual readings should be approximately 8–10 minutes or less in length.

If you have questions or need more information, please contact: Marva Nelson at (217) 351-2395 or e-mail at manelson@parkland.edu.

Please feel free to share this information with interested poets.

Whirlwind Project gathers people of many faiths and traditions to explore sacred stories through music, dialogue and the arts, fostering mutual respect and understanding in our community.

www.whirlwindproject.org

